Want to become an Undergraduate Research Ambassador?

The Office of Undergraduate Research is seeking students engaged in undergraduate research, scholarship, and creative activity, to serve as ambassadors for the 2018-2019 academic year. Ambassadors will be responsible for representing MU and the Office of Undergraduate Research at various functions and events on and off campus. Students will NOT be asked to miss class to participate in events. Students of ALL majors and academic years are encouraged to apply.

Ambassador Duties:
- Giving presentations to Freshman Interest Groups, classes, and student organizations about getting involved in research.
- Representing MU and the Office of Undergraduate Research at various functions and events.
- Helping at the Undergraduate Research and Creative Achievements Forum in April and with monthly UGR workshops.
- Biweekly meetings in the Fall Semester and monthly meetings in the Spring Semester.
- Taking part in one of the three Ambassador Committees (Recruitment and Outreach, Program Development, Training).

Benefits:
- A great résumé-building experience.
- Opportunity to interact with faculty and academic professionals.
- An opportunity for a great recommendation letter.
- Your own name badge and undergraduate research polo.

Application Process:
- Submit application, résumé, 1-2 page essay explaining why you’d like to be an Ambassador, and your faculty mentor fills out an online recommendation form.
- Participate in an interview.
